SPACE-BASED INNOVATION AND DIGITALISATION FOR THE SCHOOL OF TOMORROW

Schools have always played the role of catalysts of innovation and creativity. They are the place where students explore, often for the first time, new technologies and advanced solutions. With this Announcement of Opportunity, in collaboration with the Italian Ministry of Education, the European Space Agency (ESA) aims to support the development of innovative space-based services which can contribute to the innovation and digitalisation in the education sector.

This is an umbrella call organised around specific macro-areas. The first one to be addressed is Social Inclusion.

Key focus areas include:

- Disability inclusion
- Social and emotional inclusion
- Training of teachers
